PROFILE

Experience in front-end development focusing mainly on JavaScript, SCSS and React JS framework. Completed a team-based, full client project fit as an MVP for proposal to investors. This was done with an Agile approach thus making the whole experience as close to a professional working environment as possible. Personal projects also consist of logic-based JavaScript games and responsive websites made fully with React and sources such as APIs and Firebase as databases.

EMPLOYMENT

JUNIOR SOFTWARE DEVELOPER Moorgate, London

_nology || Jan 2020 – Apr 2020

An intensive 12-week training course that provides the fundamental skills and knowledge required for front-end programming. Focusing mainly on JavaScript and React JS, foundations on front-end functionality and design have been taught and utilised in producing and developing website quality. Methods on sourcing and storing data from APIs and Firebase have also been adopted as well as the use of authentication (Firebase) for user log ins. Angular, Node.js and CI/CD pipelines for deployment were also briefly touched throughout the course for better backend understanding.

Client project: "The Drop"
Produced with React JS, worked on multiple branches for different components before being merged to master for deployment and handover to product owner. Careful planning on design, component structure and merging were developed throughout the project as the Agile framework was implemented via daily scrums and sprints. Platforms such as Firebase and Spotify were also integrated to handle user data management and sourcing.
